Subject:	Erroneous XHR Tasks are not always considered as such

Description

When deleting a Node and confirming the confirmation message, the element disappeared in GUI, but not actually (it was there again after reload).

The XHR Response in that case was a 200 OK, however, the actual response body was {"type":"rpc","tid":3,"action":"TYPO3_Neos_Service_ExtDirect_V1_Controller_NodeController","method":"update","result":{"errors":{"node":"Could not convert array to Node object because the node \"\/sites\/acme\/ueber-uns\/main\/50462f9712dc2\/content\/node512a353096b15\" does not exist."},"success":false}}

(why this happens at all is another story).

Since result.success === false and there are result.errors, these should be shown instead (handling like on a 500); or better: send a 500 error header, I assume it'll be handled automatically then in the frontend.

For the record, the GET uri was ?TYPO3_ExtJS_ExtDirectRequest=1&__csrfToken=5c..., the request body POST parameters were

    {"action":"TYPO3_Neos_Service_ExtDirect_V1_Controller_NodeController","method":"update","data":[{"source":"\n Consectetur dolorem ipsum quia dolor sit amet, adipisci velit incidunt ut labor.\n\n","_hiddenAfterDateTime":"","_hiddenBeforeDateTime":"","_hidden":false,"_removed":true,"_typoscriptPath":"page<TYP
    Script:Matcher>/element<TYPO3.Neos.ContentTypes:Section.Default>/itemRenderer<TYPO3.TypoScript:Case>/default<TYPO3.TypoScr

    er-uns/main/50462f9712dc2/content/node512a353096b15@user-adrian"}],"type":"rpc","tid":3}

Hey Adrian

I'm rejecting this is one because it's now outdated and already improved in the new Ajax handling
